Dear Vogel:

You are most welcome to reprint the figures of E. coli protoplasts from PNAS, as requested in your letter of August 28. In fact, I have the half-tone block, and will be happy to let you have it if it would be of any use. Further, I have a paper now in press in the Journal of Bacteriology, without somewhat better illustrations, and including the proliferation of protoplasts as 'L colonies.' You are welcome to this also, including the plates, if the Journal can furnish them to you in good time. (You will have to contact Dr. Porter about that.) ~~Alternatively, you might~~

I won't be able to furnish any actual photographs till I get back to Madison in mid-November. Will that suit?

Yours sincerely,

Joshua Lederberg
